

The Creon capsule is swallowed and travels down into the stomach.

Once in the stomach. The capsule is broken down and inimicrospheres which contain enzymes, are released.

These enzymes mix with the food and become activated in the small intestine, breaking down food so nutrients are absorbed.

For this reason Creon should always be taken with a snack or meal.